

May 5 is Red Dress Day

Red Dress Day is a day to honour and remember Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women, Girls, and Two-Spirit people (MMIWG2S) across Canada.

This empty red dress represents the women and girls who are missing, who were taken too soon, and the loved ones who continue to carry their stories.

Indigenous women, girls, and two-spirit people experience violence at disproportionately high rates in Canada. Red Dress Day is a time to remember them, raise awareness, and call for change.

Please take a moment to pause, reflect, and remember these lives.
